American and English Flags Entwined in Bronze on One Face of the Granite Monument.

The Samoan Weekly Herald of August 4th, received here yesterday per the steamer Mariposa, contains the following interesting account of the unveiling of the monument to the American and English marines who were killed in action in Samoa in April, 1899:

On Sunday, the 29th of July, the memorial stone, which had been subscribed by the English and American ships of war, to the on-cers and men killed while engaged here during the recent troubles, was unveiled by His Excellency the Imperial Governor, in the presence of a large concourse of people at Mulinu.

The ceremony commenced by the landing at the German Firm's wharf of the English and American sailors. The English, taking the lead with a funeral party and reversed arms, marched to Mulinu. On arrival at the site, which had been granted by the German Government in exchange for the original one, which was unsuitable; the Rev.
W. Hockett of the London Missionary Society, followed by the Imperial Governor; Judge Knipping, Commander Tupper, Commandant Tilley, U. S.
Consul General Osborn, H. B. M. Consul Hamilton Hunter, Mr. Banz and the municipal officers, took up a position inside the ground.

Rev. W. Hockett then read the Church of England burial service, at the conclusion of which the firing parties from H. M. S. Pylades and the United States ship Abarenda fired three volleys over the graves of their comrades to the call of the "last post," which was first sounded by the bugler of the Pylades and afterwards by the trumpeter of the Abarenda. Then followed a hymn led by Commander Tupper, in which all present joined in singing "Thy Will be Done," after which the officials left the enclosure and came out in front where the bluejack-ets formed in square with the Governor and officials in the center. There Commander Tupper addressed the Governor as follows:

"As senior representative here present of the British and United States Navies, I thank you for the kindness and courtesy you have shown to us, in granting such an excellent site or the memorial which has been erected to the memory of our comrades who fell in the discharge of their duty, and I feel sure that the relations and friends of the deceased wish me to express their gratitude to you, for your kind wish, voluntarily expressed, to take care of the memorial they have subscribed to their dear ones, and for the assistance which you and your countrymen here present, have so generously rendered to us in erecting the same. I now invite Your Excellency to be kind enough to unveil the memorial for us."

His Excellency the Governor in reply said:
"In performing the honorable task of unveiling this memorial I am desiring of expressing my heartfelt sympathy for the dead. I feel gratified in having been able to assist Commanders Tupper and Tilley in choosing a suitable place for the memorial; and I shall deem it an obligation to watch over and preserve from injury the last resting place of those who died in the discharge of their duty. I now unveil the memorial."

The monument being unveiled, the bluejackets, on the word of command, saluted the Governor, after which the officials retired.

The residents then came forward and placed wreaths on the monument.
The following is a description of the stone with the inscription thereon:

The monument is of gray granite complete, and weighs about 15 tons.
It is enriched by the British and American flags entwined in bronze; also a navy anchor of the same material. The base of the monument is 11 feet by 6 feet 6 inches square. It stands enclosed by an iron railing and coping, which covers 50 feet by 25 feet square. In all, the weight is about 30 tons, and was brought down to Apia in H. M. S. Pylades and was erected by the men of this ship under the direction of Captain Tupper. Messrs.
Ross and Bowman of Waverley, have done the work in admirable style to the order of the combined American and British navies. The cost, irrespective of fixing and carriage, is about £250.
